

Change a Default App in Windows 11

Wolf Creek step-by-step guide

Before you begin: Know the file type or link type you want to open and the application you want Windows to use.

STEP 1 Open Default apps

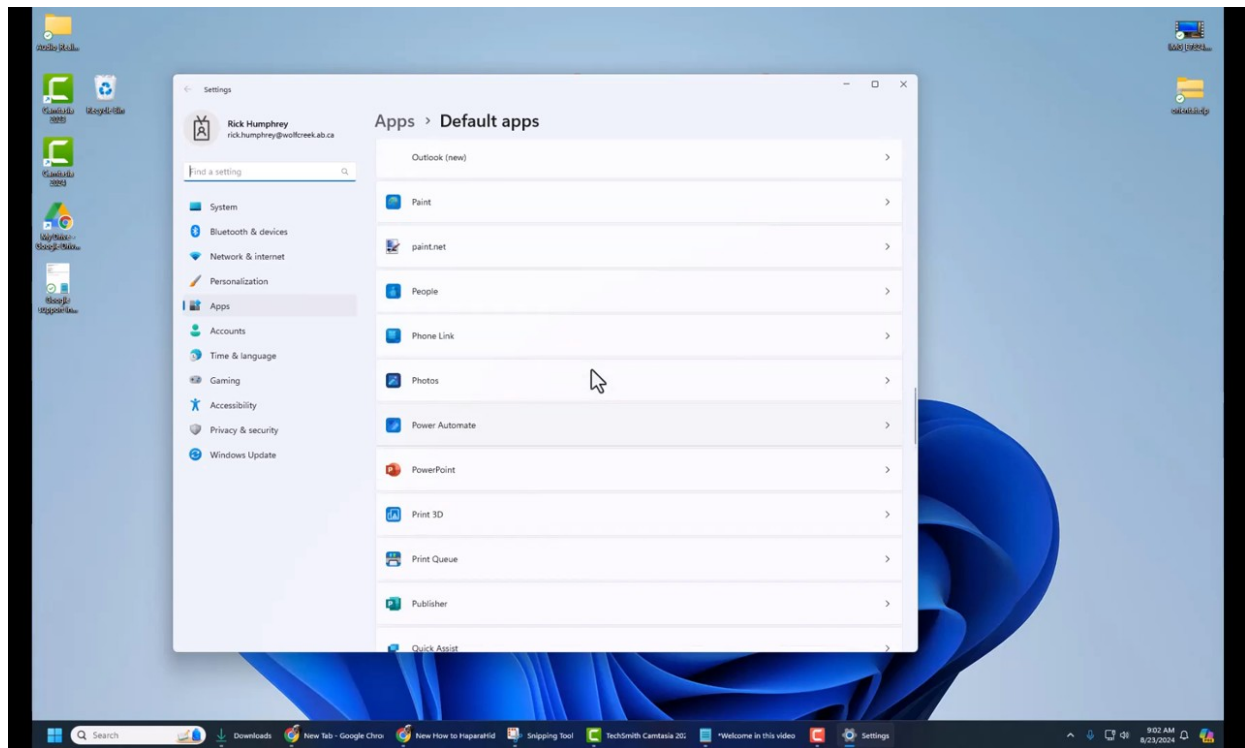

Open Start, search for Default apps, and select the matching Settings result.

Open Default apps.

STEP 2 Choose an app or file type

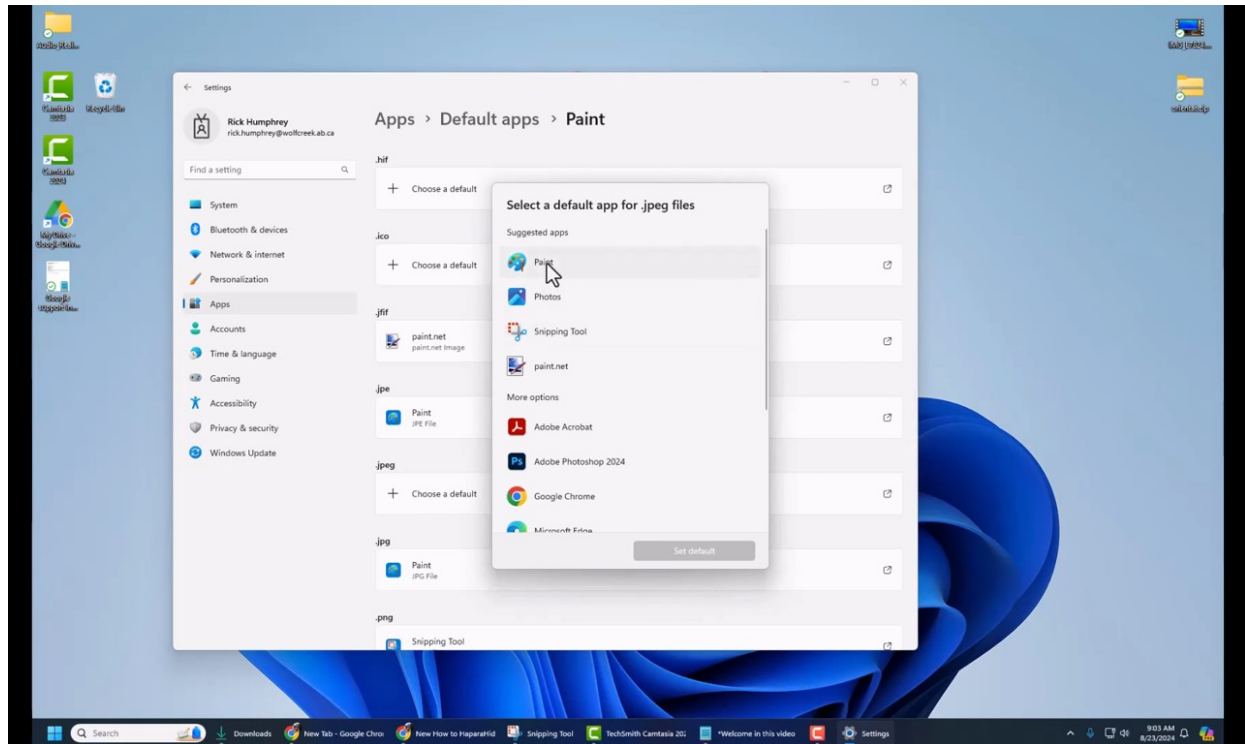

Select the application you want to review, or search for the file type or link type you need to change.

Choose an app or file type.

STEP 3 Select the current default

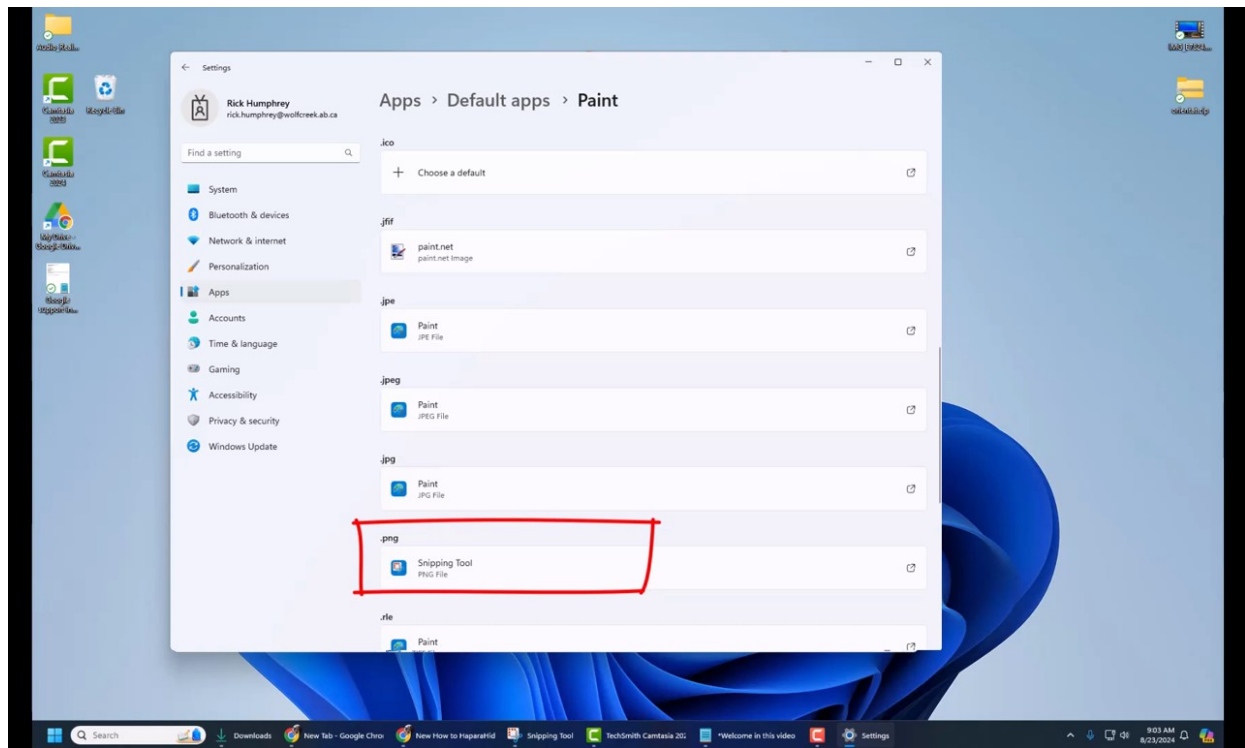

Find the required file type and select its current default application.

Select the current default.

STEP 4 Choose the new default app

Select the application you want to use, confirm the choice, and verify it now appears as the default.

Choose the new default app.